

An aerial photograph of a large log raft floating on a dark river. The raft is composed of numerous logs bundled together in a hexagonal pattern. In the background, a dense forest of green trees covers a hillside. The text "Our Human Ties to the Environment" is overlaid in white on a dark grey rectangular background.

Our Human Ties to the Environment

• • •

By Colin Virgines

The Anthropocene

The Human Impact

Human Land Use

- Production of food and fuel
- Accelerated extinction rates

Evolutionary Pressure

- Development of antibiotics and pesticides
- Relocation of species to new habitats

Moving Forward in the Anthropocene

The Environmental Movement

Rethinking Dualism

- Nature and Culture
- Male and Female
- Human and Animal

The Santa Susana Field Lab

The Santa Susana Field Lab

Map of Facility

The Burro Flats Painted Cave

Environmental Humanities in SSFL